INSIDE

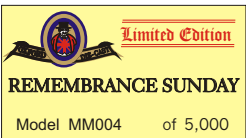

PAST
RELEASES

Once again we are supporting The Royal British Legion and this year we have released 4 vehicles using the new Morris Minor castings. Those of you who are new to the club may not be aware of this activity. The first models appeared in 1999 and since then we have annually released models and further details can be found on the web site. All but one of the sets featured a vehicle 'Lest We Forget'. We have a handful (30 sets) of the Bedfords left from last year, so if any one missed these then please give the office a call. The Morris Minor first release is now with us and we will be despatching these in the early part of December - see Page 4.

ARTHUR ASKEY

Hello Playmates

 Limited Edition
ARTHUR ASKEY
 Model VW020 of 2,000

NEW RELEASE

Arthur Bowden Askey was born in Liverpool on 6th June 1900. He was 5 foot 3 inches and coined many catchphrases like "Hello Playmates and "Doesn't it make you want to spit?", but his first "Ay-Thang-Yew" were on everybody's lips during the 50's and the phrase passed into the English language.

He continued to work into his eighties and made one of his last appearances at The Royal Variety Show. Following this he suffered from circulatory problems in his legs, which ultimately led him to having both amputated - he died in 1982.

ROYSTON CROW
 150th Anniversary 1855- 2005
 Model NEW006 of 1,050

Royston is situated on the borders of Hertfordshire and Cambridgeshire and its history dates back to Roman times. At one time the hooded crow (corvus comix) was so common in the district that it became known as the Royston Crow. Cromwell's Roundheads derided the inhabitants after a brawl with local Cavalier sympathisers and called them "Crows" and the name has remained. The local newspaper, The Herts. & Cambs. Reporter, is known locally as the Royston Crow. We released a Model A 5 years ago (A013G) and this Bedford is a further release this time for its 150th anniversary.

Charlie Drake

Hello My Darlings!

Best remembered for his opening catchphrase 'Hello My Darlings!' He first appeared on TV in 1954 as half of a children's TV slapstick duo Mick and Montmorency, with his 6ft 4in wartime comrade Jack Edwardes. The BBC then asked him to come up with an adult show, and the result, Laughter In Store, led to others, including his most famous, The Worker. In 1961, he fractured his skull when a slapstick stunt on his live BBC show, in which he was pulled through a bookcase and thrown through a window, went wrong - leaving him unconscious for three days. He retired from showbusiness for two years after this accident.

HEINZ
 Model VW024 of 2,000

Henry Heinz invented Heinz Baked beans in 1875, but the first product was Henry's mother's "pure and superior" grated horseradish, bottled in clear glass to show its purity. Nearly 20 years later he turned more than 60 products into "57 Varieties." The magic number became world-renowned and now is virtually synonymous with the H.J. Heinz Company. For many though the little jingle - "A million housewives everyday pick up a can of beans and say beanz meanz heinz" comes to mind.

2006 PREVIEW

PRE-RELEASE INFORMTION

One of the releases for 2006

Over the next year we have quite a lot happening as explained in recent Globes. The Morris Minor models have just started arriving and these will be followed in the New Year with a Mini Van (advance model available via Diecast Collector in January for £1 p&p) and in March we will see the arrival of a Spitfire which we have been asked for on many occasions. We have further new tooling for a van which will appear around the mid year through the Oxford club, although we will release a special version of this around March which we will supply details about nearer the time. We also have bodyshape variations on the Mini, Morris Minor and the new van which will appear from about May onwards - plenty to look forward to. We are already planning new tooling for the second half of 2006 to further enhance the range. We are also placing more emphasis on the designs and packs, which I'm sure will make them very collectable. The models shown are first off samples, but be assured all club members will get the opportunity of being the first to receive details on all of these once they are released.

Christmas 2005

NEW RELEASE

All Standard and Platinum members will receive their FREE Club vehicle hopefully over the Christmas break. At the time of writing they are scheduled to arrive in the country just before Christmas and then they have to be packed and despatched, so its fingers crossed that they reach you in time. If you are an Associate member and want to upgrade then you can do so on the order form and you will also receive a model.

A word from Michael

I have just received my Morris Minor van and I'm very pleased with the level of finish and detail on the vehicle. The GPO variant when it appears will greatly add to the range as will the various headboards and lights etc. Whilst you unwind over the Christmas period have a think about any new diecast models that may be of interest to you and drop us a line as we are always open to suggestions.

As the year draws to a close I wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy and prosperous 2006.

Until next time

Take care

Michael

BENJAMIN AND THE GOLDEN BEAR

In his second adventure Benjamin goes in search of the Golden Bear. The book contains some lovely pictures and if you've got the first copy this is a must have item. What's more everyone who buys the book through the Globe will have a chance to win a small model (limited edition) of the Golden Bear. To qualify you will be asked to read the book and answer the questions - the Globe winner will be announced in mid January so if this gift item is for Christmas there is plenty of time for the answers to be sent in.

When ordering this item through the Globe you will receive an entry sheet.
