Issue 113

UK & EIRE 2 Guineas (£2.10) USA $5.00

By the mid-1950s, with Britain starting to recover from the Second World War, fuel was in short supply and petrol rationing was reintroduced. While sales of big cars slumped, there was a boom in more economical vehicles. The British Motor Corporation charged Alec Issigonis with designing something that would actually look like a car, hold four adults, and be small and economical. His design was a revolutionary space-saving front-wheel-drive that for the first time mounted the engine transversely. Virtually all small front-wheel-drive cars that followed employed a similar configuration. First produced in 1959, the Mini soon became Britain's most popular car, enjoying its heyday in the Swinging Sixties. Now, five decades on, the Mini is celebrating its 50th anniversary. Oxford is releasing a specially packaged Mini to commemorate the event.

The first Postmaster of New South Wales was an ex-convict, Isaac Nichols, who took the post in 1809 operating from his home in George Street, Sydney. His main job was to take charge of letters and parcels arriving by ship, to avoid the chaos of people rushing onto the ships as soon as they arrived at Sydney's wharves. The Postal Act of 1825 allowed the governor to fix postage rates and appoint Postmasters outside Sydney, enabling the first organized postal service, which grew throughout the country. By 1849 uniform postal rates were established by agreement between the colonies. Monthly steamship sea mail to the United Kingdom was established in 1856. The separate colonies joined the Universal Postal Union in 1891. The demand for Oxford vehicles in Australia has grown rapidly in the last year, this is part of a release specially for their collectors – the registration code is ZPP 454.

R A Howie

NEW

CODE	SCALE	EDITION	PRICE
DAF08CS	1:76	—	£17.99

Another addition to the range – many of you will have noted the variations of cabs, chassis etc. R. A Howie was established in May 1974, operating vehicles from a depot at Kintore, Aberdeenshire. Vehicles range from 44 tonne gun, 1.5 tonne transit, tautliner and flat trailers. Service and MOT carried out in house by own staff.

The first release of the low Loader was very well received last month and this month we release a blue variant. It was a restored vehicle in this colour that was measured by Martin as a reference for this vehicle. Cabs could be found in many different colours before the 1940s and fleets would have their own colour. Next month we will have an AFS Fire version.

The tractors were painted in yellow and used by the Highways Department. We also have further quantities of the blue Tractor – for how long I just don't know – we have never had them in stock long enough to supply everyone. We also release a triple set of the tractors, featuring the red, green and blue variants. (The sets cannot form part of multi-purchasing.)

Merseyside Police came into being in 1974 when Merseyside was created, and is a successor to the Liverpool and Bootle Constabulary, along with parts of Cheshire Constabulary and Lancashire Constabulary. Liverpool City Police had existed in its' own right up until 1968. Our new Land Rover livery in 1:76 scale model adds to the increasing range.

McIntosh is a family run company, with a combined experience of more than 100 years in the industry, undertaking work from straightforward topsoil supplies to major earthwork projects, ensuring a first class service is delivered on time, every time with the use of the company's vast and modern fleet. The company also extends its services to the heavy and abnormal haulage sector. The fleet of rear-steer state-of-the-art low loaders can carry loads up to 96 tonnes capacity – anywhere within the UK.

I am still struggling to supply everyone with the 1:43rd version, more supplies of which will arrive next month. In the meantime, we are releasing the 1:76 version which has the same appeal as its bigger brother. Next month we will also release the 76DS001 white limousine version. We are also planning this model at N gauge later in the year – so plenty to look forward to here. TAFF

You have to keep an eye out for these models, some of them sell out so quickly and if you don't snap them up - they are gone. The Ford Popular in black is a good example of this. We often have calls telling us that they only appeared in black, but be assured that is not the case. We research all of the models - Adrienne spends a lot of time identifying colours from the past. Saying a vehicle is white is not good enough - there are a lot of whites out there that are very different! TAFF See Price list for details

CLASSIC & VINTAGE COMMERCIAL SHOW 2009 - JUNE

Oxford Diecast will be exhibiting at this years event which is being held at the Heritage Motor Centre in Gaydon. We will have all the latest information on our latest releases. Attending will be Adrienne - Product Designs, Martin - Engineering, Rob - Model Making, Brian & Kate - Sales and Taff. So come along and talk to them about your models, your ideas and what you'd like to see in the future. Between us all we have spent nearly 150 years in the business - so we know a little bit about diecast.

Also see some of Rob's exclusive dioramas - on show for the first time..

We'll have on sale a special 80 inch Land Rover with Gaydon 2009 logo (first available at this show -any left will be made available to members at a later date).

This is your chance to meet up with the team. At the site will be 400 vehicles - ranging from Mini Vans through to the largest Scammells.Trade Stands. The museum which includes over 100 vehicles. "Under the Skin" for the kids - explains how a vehicle works. The Baldwin Collection - social history collection exploring the role of public and private transport at different stages in our life. Mini 50th anniversary exhibition -the life and times of Britain's favourite little car.
